

ABSTRACT

Title: Coach behaviour in football training session

Objectives: Diagnosing coaching activity in two training units in the youth category, and two training units in the adult category. In the following I will focus on forms of coach's behavior.

Hypothesis: I suppose that the form of correction and feedback will prevail in the youth training units, more than training in the adult category.

Methods: To achieve the targets, I will use the method of observation, the method of audio recording and the method of teaching interaction (ADI)

Results: The hypothesis was not confirmed. Correction and feedback information were in training units of youth represented in the same or lesser percentage.

Keywords: correction, feedback information, instruction
